

Abadal Crianza 2007

Winery: Bodegas Masies D'Avinyo

Region: Pla de Bages D.O.

Grapes: 50% Cabernet Sauvignon and 50% Merlot

Vineyard: Masies D'Avinyo is leading the charge of quality wine production from this, one of the oldest vine growing regions in the world, el Bages, named for Bacchus the Roman god of wine. The vines are cultivated on carefully structured terraces, influenced by a Continental- Mediterranean climate, with low rainfall. This leads to highly structured wines that maintain a freshness and delicacy rarely found in such rich wines.

Vineyards are planted with native and French grapes, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Syrah, Cabernet Franc, Chardonnay and Mando and Picapoll. A strong technical background is used in vineyard management, for example, specific total leaf area per mass of grapes to assure ripeness. This is combined with a detailed interaction with each vintage. In warm vintages, new oak is purchased with lower levels of toast, in cooler vintages barrels with higher levels of toast are used. A combination of French, Hungarian and American oak is used in aging the wines.

Wine: All vines are estate grown in the foothills of the Pyrenees. The grapes were harvested by hand and destemmed prior to fermentation. Maceration lasted 20 days with periodic pumping over. Fermentation temperatures never exceed a maximum of 84° F. Each variety was aged separately in American and French oak barrels for 12 months. After the final assemblage, it was bottled and aged at the winery further prior to release.

Reviews:

“Opaque ruby. Musky redcurrant and cherry on the nose, with complicating notes of tobacco, licorice and orange bitters. Smells like a classic Bordeaux and tastes like one as well, offering zesty red berry and cherry skin flavors and a subtle herbal quality. Tightly wound and nicely focused blend, finishing with good clarity and tannic grip. Very grown-up and balanced to age.”

“The 2007 Crianza is made up of 50% Merlot and 50% Cabernet Sauvignon aged in French and American oak for 12 months. Cedar, spice box, herbs, cassis, and black currants compose the bouquet of this sweetly-fruited red. Nicely balanced, intense, and lengthy, it promises to evolve for 1-2 years and drink well through 2019.”
