“This is the best rendition of Albariño I’ve tasted this year,... this is physically denser and more concentrated,... maintaining virtually perfect fruit-to-acidity balance through a long, symmetrical, mineral-tinged finish. The aromas show the lightest touch of floral scents without seeming perfumed, and the flavors are impressively deep but still precise... I’d bet it will become even better with a few more years in bottle... But there’s no doubt that this is a superb wine in its own right while also being a clear category leader.”
